

Dr Janet Martha Blatny

Dr Janet Martha Blatny is the Director of the Total Defence Division at the Norwegian Defence Research Establishment (FFI), and her expertise covers areas within total defence, resilience, cognitive warfare and CBRN. She is also working at the NATO Science and Technology Organisation (STO) Office of Chief Scientist, Brussels, and was the Chair of NATO STO Human Factors and Medicine Panel during 2021-2023. She has experience within EDA and EU research projects. Blatny attended the NATO Defence College Senior Course in 2024 and the Senior Executive Course at the Norwegian National Defence College in 2009. Blatny received her PhD in 1997 within Biotechnology Engineering from the Norwegian University of Science and Technology 1997.